

Our mission is to provide clients with proven alternative methods and strategies that help them to discover their potential and enable them to build self-confidence and personal growth. We help men, women and children to develop vital skills that promote self-actualization, foster human understanding and contribute to the betterment of mankind through workshops, seminars and planned activities.

It is basic to this mission that we continually expand our network of consultants, thereby offering even greater numbers of people the opportunity to benefit from our programs.

Tangible Horizons, Inc. is built on the strength of partnership. Our consulting team realizes that people learn and are motivated in different ways and often various experts may be required to accomplish specific goals. By providing creative, practical, alternative solutions to challenging situations, we succeed where traditional and conventional methods fail. Working as a team enables both the client and the company to achieve success and satisfaction at the end of each project.

VISION

Tangible Horizons was incorporated with a vision to provide motivational support to a broad range of entities that service mankind, especially children. The company consists of a diverse consulting team of scientists, doctors, lawyers, engineers, parents, educators and other business professionals who all share a common factor...they all have achieved their dreams to become successful despite their adverse socio-economic backgrounds. They also share the belief that, like the horizon, an imaginary line separates success and failure.

Tangible Horizons empowers others to discover their own unique keys to unlock their potential by providing the necessary resources and motivational tools to make that elusive horizon become a tangible reality.
